STEPHEN A. HOLLAWAY SLAIN IN CALIFORNIA

Victim of a brutal hammer slaying, a man identified as Stephen A. (Shorty) Hollaway, 39, of Hondo, was found in a hotel room in Fullerton, Calif., Monday night, April 20. According to Fullerton police officers, the time of the murder was set at sometime Saturday, two days before the body was discovered by a maid who went to clean the room.

The victim was identified by papers found in his coat and his family here was notified. On word from them, positive identification was made from a large scar on his back. This scar was the result of a severe scalding by steam when he was a boy working in the family's cotton gin in Hondo.

Information received here was that the hotel room in which Hollaway was found had been rented last Saturday to a man who signed his name as Roy F. Osborn of Fullerton. Osborn's wife told police she had not seen her husband since Saturday. She also identified the handbags and some articles of clothing found in the room as belonging to her husband. She was unable to identify the body.

According to Champaign Hollaway, brother of the slain man, "Shorty" was in California, enroute to Pearl Harbor to take a job as a welder in the United States Navy Yards there. On Thursday preceding the murder, his sister, Miss Mabel Hollaway of San Antonio, had sent him his birth certificate and Social Security number and a large sum of money by air mail. It is believed that he was murdered and robbed of his cash. California authorities have promised to keep the family here notified as to the progress in the hunt for the slayer or slayers.

Hollaway's body will arrive in Hondo Saturday or Sunday. Funeral services are set for 3 p. m. Monday, April 27, at the Horger funeral home and interment will be made in the family plot in Oakwood cemetery, Hondo.

Stephen A. Hollaway was born October 5, 1902, at Concrete, Texas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hollaway. He moved to Hondo with his parents in 1903.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. J. W. Hollaway of Hondo; three brothers, Ross, A. G., and Champaign Hollaway of Hondo; five sisters, Mrs. Nora Dawson and Mrs. Lucille Burden of Hondo, Miss Mabel Hollaway and Mrs. Ina Mansell of San Antonio, and Mrs. Lottie Maw of Boston, Mass.

ELECTION SET FOR TUESDAY, APRIL TWENTY-EIGHTH; TO BE HELD AT COURTHOUSE.

Acting upon the petition endorsed by practically unanimous vote of a cross-section fairly representative of the citizenship of Hondo at the Chamber of Commerce meeting of Monday night, April 13th, asking for a vote to determine whether Hondo shall incorporate for a City Council form of government, County Judge Arthur H. Rothe, by virtue of the power and authority vested in him, granted the said petition as prayed for, ordered and gave notice of such election by posting three notices at specified places as provided by law, and set the date for same for Tuesday, April 28th.

Since the law provides only for posting three notices and not for publishing the Order of Election, leaving interested parties the alternative of standing before a manuscript tacked to a wall and reading and digesting a long, tedious statement or else securing a private copy, and believing all should read and analyze the same in all its facts and implications, this paper publishes herewith a verbatim copy of the said Order of Election, to wit:

WHEREAS, a petition signed by Claude W. Gilliam, and more than fifty others, has been filed with me, asking for an election for the purpose of determining whether or not the qualified voters residing within the proposed corporate limits of the hereinafter described unincorporated town of Hondo, in Medina County, Texas, desire to incorporate same into a body corporate for municipal purposes using a City Council form of government. WITNESS MY OFFICIAL HAND AND SEAL OF OFFICE, at Hondo, Texas, on this 14th day of April, 1942.

ARTHUR H. ROTHE,
County Judge of Medina County,
Texas.

EDITORIAL

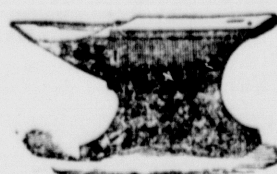

A casual examination of the petition (not published) and of the order of election as set out above and a comparison with those, as we recall them, of former movements to incorporate, discloses several striking differences that merit consideration even though late in being brought to light.

In the first place, instead of enlarging the area to meet a larger need, the bounds have been somewhat reduced.

The proximity of the Air Field grounds on the northwest makes a change there inevitable.

But that fact, coupled with the fact that the logical direction for Hondo's future expansion is eastward, should offer a valid reason for extending the bounds in that direction rather than curtailing them. In the north-eastern direction the reverse of expansion has been pursued—even to the extent of leaving some already established homes outside the city limits—rather than anticipating future needs by expansion.

In offering the City Council form of government, there is a departure from the former proposal to incor-

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

I see where Mr. Bone—he is a U. S. A. senator—is proposing a system of Govt. dams in Oregon and Washington that will be the greatest in the world. No difference what it is, if it is the biggest, we want it. Even if it is a deficit, we want it stupendous.

There don't seem to be any other reason or excuse for the dams—except they will be big. But if a person happens to be a little curious and will research into the crevasses, he will discover some nice juicy jobs being handed around. And like it is with Govt. ventures, when Uncle Sam sticks his foot into private business, a new car and free gas and a spare tire goes with each job.

Neglecting our Army and Navy in times like these, to mess around with the biggest dam in the world is gonna be one of the reasons why, early in November, will be a grand and joyous season. Hot ziggy!

If I was a congressman with a tinge of socialism in my system, I would be shaking and shivering in my boots.

Yours with the low down,

porate under the Commission form. Seeing that the people will select the same men to serve them it never seemed to this writer that it made any material difference whether they were called aldermen or commissioners—you have the same politics and the same politicians. However, as there may be advantages of one over the other, it would do no harm to take time to thoroughly consider their relative merits before accepting either in preference to the other. And it would certainly be more democratic—and, therefore, none the less wise—to have so petitioned as to have secured a vote of choice between the two systems of municipal government while voting for incorporation.

Of course, these matters can be remedied in a measure by supplemental action at any future time deemed expedient, but until they are settled they are apt to remain moot and might better have been taken care of at this time.

You may gather from that the conclusion that we are not enamored of a multiplicity of politics—and you are correct, especially as it applies to a small municipality.

But in deferring to a future date the selection of the personnel of the mayoralty and council, the election has been wisely stripped of the baneful effort to influence the vote by offering the offices, along with their creation, to popular men; in other words, you must wait until a future time to cast your vote, either for or against the fellow you would like to slap.

The question at issue, therefore, is, for the present at least, stripped of all personal equations and one faces the one stark question—for or against incorporation?

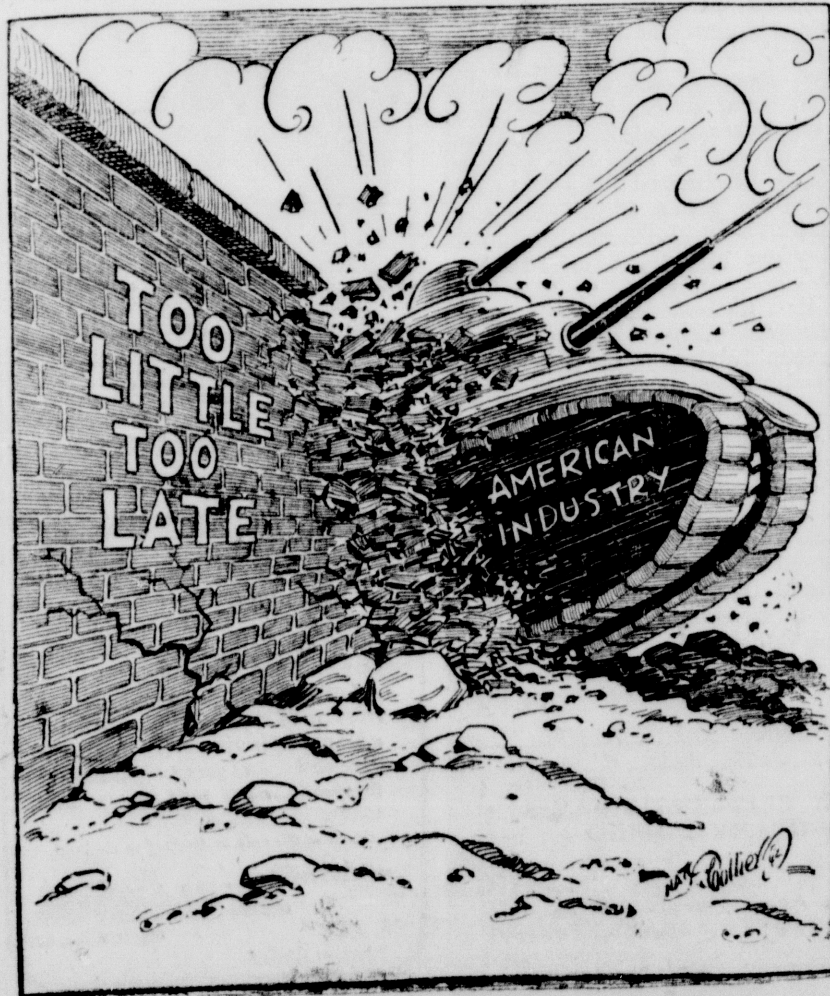

If we vote for incorporation, we are voting to accept as our part the grappling with many vexatious and pressing problems—problems that will not down but grow more difficult with the expansion of the town—and we can expect to pay the price in increased taxation.

If we vote against it, we shut our eyes to a possible moral pollution worse than the physical—a risk we cannot afford to take.

A wisely chosen city administration, by co-operating with the military establishment now being set up beside us and co-ordinating the city improvements with those being installed by the military, will secure the improvements at the minimum cost, establish them on a more efficient, extensive and permanent basis, minimize, if not remove our chief dangers to both physical and moral health and solidify the larger community that we are destined to become into a more compact and harmonious whole than will be possible from the former proposal to incor-

JAMES PRESTON

During the next few months civilians all over the country are going to feel the impact of war more strongly than ever before. Shortages like those that have already occurred in many lines of consumer goods are going to increase, and increase rapidly, according to officials here, as more and more industries change over to the grim and sober business of full-time war production.

The experts say that an acute metal shortage is rapidly developing on the production front. It's bound to cut still further the amount of metals now available for the manufacture of many of the articles that are regarded as necessities in peacetime. Army and Navy estimates for the current war program indicate that the demand alone exceeds the supply of many metals.

This month five industries—laundry equipment, radios and phonographs, electric refrigeration, vending machines, and vacuum cleaners—are going to stop making civilian goods. No lawn mowers except those used to harvest crops may be turned out after June 30. Iron and steel used in making beds, bedsprings and mattresses have already been curtailed from 15 to 60 per cent. Iron, steel and zinc used in manufacturing scores of kitchen and household articles will be cut up to 50 per cent, beginning June 30.

These reductions are only a few of the many that are coming, but they indicate what's happening, and what's going to happen in the future, as industry continues to concentrate on war production.

WFB and OPA officials are frankly worried over the possibility of "panic buying" as a result of these scarcities. They realize that something must be done to prevent runs on stores by anxious consumers, but so far no one has come up with a workable solution to the problem.

—WSS—
Right now many staunch Administration supporters are urging the President to issue an executive order instructing the government agencies involved to develop and execute a coordinated policy that would put an overall blanket on wages, profits, and prices to replace the present "piecemeal" method of dealing with these problems.

Officials who are sponsoring the plan contend that it would eliminate the continued demand for wage increase on the part of labor. When such increases were given, they would be paid in Government bonds.

—WSS—
As men and women throughout the country become more and more aware of the fact that "this is war", Congress can look forward to a closer check on its actions by the folks back home. The recent flood of mail about the 40-hour week is only the beginning, according to many observers here who remember other national crises that aroused a letter-writing mood in John Does all over the nation.

Although the truce in the bitter controversy over labor legislation is scheduled to last until April 20, opposing camps are still maneuvering behind the scenes. What the outcome will be no one can predict at the moment, for the situation changes from day to day. This much is certain, however. Letters from the folks back home demand that something be done, and done quickly, to guarantee maximum cooperation in the victory drive.

As Donald Nelson said the other day, "we have but little time." General opinion here is that leading industrialists already realize this and are acting accordingly.

LOOK UP

(American Poetry Magazine)
Soul, look up to the glowing heights;
Mind, soar in upward, forward flights.

Heart, beat for God, steadfast and true,
And find relief from bitter rue.

Eyes, look up from the clinging sod;
Look from yourself and up to God.

Look! See His diamond studded sky
Piled on His velvet cushion high.

Never neglecting duty,
Gaze on transcendent beauty.

Study the stars and you will know
That your soul was born to grow.
—ELOISE COOPER FOWLER.

More than half the farmers in the United States (50.6 percent) were full owners of their farms in 1940, according to the Census.

A WEEK of the WAR

War Production Chairman Nelson, speaking in New York City, said the United Nations have now outstripped the Axis in war production. Because of the accumulated reserves of the enemy, however, "we have not yet won the battle of production," he said. Vice President Wallace said by July of this year the U. S. will be producing more war material than any other nation in the history of the world.

The WPB said as of April 1 the Government had disbursed more than $23 billion on the war effort. Chairman Nelson asked all prime contractors to establish subcontracting departments, and to make subcontracting needs known to the nearest WPB field office. He also asked that workers' vacations be staggered and overtime and employment of substitutes be increased so vacations will not disrupt war production. The Board listed the first 500 plants to set up voluntarily labor-management committees and launch production drives.

Manpower Mobilization
Federal Security Administrator McNutt was made chairman of a nine-man War Manpower Commission set up by the President to "bring about the most effective mobilization and the maximum use of the nation's manpower." Mr. McNutt said the Commission will establish a labor priorities system to allocate manpower on a voluntary basis. If this system fails, he said he would ask for authority to assign men and women to specific jobs. He reported an additional 10 million workers will be needed in war production this year, many of whom will have to be obtained through recruiting women, young people and retired workers.

The President proclaimed the week of May 3 as National Employment week and asked employers to train and employ women and older men as a means of avoiding a labor shortage. The President's Committee on fair employment practice ordered 10 companies holding large war contracts to cease discriminating against workers because of race or religion.

The War Front
War Secretary Stimson told a press conference the U. S. Army is almost ready for the offensive. Army communiques reported 13 Australia-based American bombers, in a 4,000 mile round-trip raid on Japanese installations in the Philippines sank four enemy ships, damaged four others and caused widespread damage. The Army and Navy withheld comment on reports that American bombers had raided Tokyo, Yokohama, Kobe and other Japanese cities and inflicted extensive property damage.

General MacArthur named the members of his staff assisting him as head of the United Nations Southwest Pacific Command. General Wainwright said Corregidor Island could and would hold out. He said an estimated 60,000 American and Filipino combatant and noncombatant troops on Bataan are now in the hands of the enemy. Eight United Nations ships were reported sunk by enemy submarines in the Atlantic.

Foreign Relations
The White House reported Lend-Lease aid amounted to more than $3 billion by the end of March. War supplies sent to Russia in March were two and a half times as great as those sent in February. President Roosevelt notified Ambassador to Vichy Leahy to return to this country for instructions, because of the domination of the new government of France by the Pro-German Laval. The State Department said three American ships scheduled to carry food and clothing to France and North Africa are being held here pending clarification of the Vichy situation.

Army and Selective Service
The War Department said organization of 32 new divisions this year is being carried out on schedule. The Department said the Army Medical Corps strength will be doubled to meet demands of the expanded Army. Physicians under 45 years and dentists under 35 will be eligible for commissions as First Lieutenants. The Department also announced formation of a new combat force, The Tank Destroyer Command, which will begin training in Texas early this Summer.

The Department said it will grant furloughs of 10 days to inductees after their processing at reception centers, if local boards recommend such action for men who need the time to clear up personal affairs. Selective Service Director Hershey said the supply of men classified as 1-A probably will be exhausted by the end of Summer and the calling of men of 1-B classification probably will start in the Fall.

Navy and Air
The Navy Department said the Bureau of Yards and Docks will act as contracting agency for the Department for all construction accomplished by private agencies, including works subcontracted under a prime contractor. Two new destroyers were launched and a third was commissioned. The President directed Navy Secretary Knox to take over three plants of the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation in order to increase their production.

President Roosevelt and Canadian Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced jointly that all United Nations with air training programs under way in the U. S. or Canada will confer in Ottawa early in May on "further united military efforts."

Shipping

The War Shipping Administration requisitioned all the remaining American-owned ocean-going vessels which had not been taken over by the government previously. Every detail of operation—cargoes, routes of travel and time of departure for ocean-going vessels can now be specified by the WSA. The President authorized the Maritime Commission "to acquire, use and dispose of" any real or personal property needed for the building of merchant ships. He also authorized the Commission to award medals to members of the nation's merchant marine for distinguished conduct.

War Bonds and Stamps

The Treasury said a campaign will be opened May 1 to secure voluntary pledges from all persons in the U. S. to purchase war savings bonds and stamps with at least 10 percent of their incomes. The Campaign will include the establishment of war savings committees in every county of the nation. It will attempt to double the monthly volume of bond and stamp purchases. The WPB said war bond sales totaled almost $5 billion as of April 1.

Rationing

The Office of Price Administration reported the first sugar ration will be one pound per person for a two-week period. The Office said rationing books will not be issued to persons who already have more than six pounds of sugar. Persons with two pounds on hand but not more than six will have stamps removed at registration time, at the rate of one stamp for each pound over the first two. Each sugar ration book holder will be permitted to receive a special allotment of not more than five pounds of sugar a year for home canning or preserving of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Civilian Supply

The WPB ordered production of medium and heavy trucks for civilian use discontinued after existing quotas have been completed. The Board froze all stocks of new plumbing and heating equipment, with the exception of retail sales of $5 or less and orders bearing a preference rating of A-10 or higher. The Board also prohibited manufacture of oil burners and coal stokers for residential use. Amounts of shellac used in the manufacture of phonograph records were restricted to 30 percent of 1941 consumption.

Housing and Construction

National Housing Administrator Eandford said he will establish regional offices, tentatively set at 10, to shift more responsibility for planning the billion-dollar War Housing Program to the committees it will benefit. Responsibility for building the projects will remain with the Program to the committees it will benefit. The WPB reported military and other essential construction in 1942 will give the industry its greatest program in history, 20 percent above the 1941 record.

DAILY LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Monday, April 20, 1942

San Antonio, April 20.—Hogs, estimated salable and total receipts 1,000. The week's initial session in the San Antonio hog division found trading rather slow and values listed mostly 25c lower compared with last week Friday. A top of $13.50 took Good and Choice 180-270 lb. butchers while similar grade 160-180 lb. kinds cashed at $13.00-13.50. Good and Choice 140-160 lb. earned $12.00-13.00. In late trade the $13.50 figure was difficult to secure for top butchers. Most sows 400 lbs. and under changed hands at $12.25-12.50. Feeder pigs reflected the 25c downturn as most deals developed at $11.00-11.25.

CATTLE: Estimated salable and total receipts 1,700; CALVES 2,500. Most buying interests competed for slaughter cattle supplies Monday and values ruled fully steady. A part load Good and Choice 621 lb. fed yearlings reached $12.75. Others Good loadlots steers and yearlings scaling 723-911 lbs. ranged from $11.75-12.00. The bulk of Common and Medium selections cashed at $9.00-11.00. A full load of Cutter grade steers changed hands at $8.50. Common to Good beef cows net outlets at $7.50-9.50 while Canners and Cutters realized $5.00-7.50. Most Canner sales, however developed at $5.50 and above. Sausage bulls of Common and Medium grade turned at $7.50-9.35. Good and Choice killer calves ranged from $11.50-12.50 and several lots cleared $12.85-13.00. Most Common and Medium selections changed hands at $9.25-11.25 and Culls at $7.50-8.75.

Limited stocker calf supplies sold readily at firm prices. Good and Choice stock steer calves turned at $11.00-14.00 and a few lots Choice lightweights exceeded the $14.00 level. Medium grade kinds changed hands at $9.75-10.75. Most Good and Choice heifers brought $10.50-12.50, few $13.00.

SHEEP: Estimated salable and total receipts 1,200. Sheep trade carried a steady to weak trend Monday as Medium grade recently shorn aged wethers cashed at $5.25-5.50. Odd head Good grades to $6.00. Good and Choice two and three year old wethers carrying No. 3 pelts had to go at $6.25 and a few yearlings made $7.25. Cull and Common shorn ewes earned $3.50-3.85. Slaughter goats ranged from $5.00-5.25.

ENTERS UNIVERSITY HORSE SHOW

Austin, Texas, April 25.—Horsewomen at the University of Texas will go patriotic this spring when they donate the proceeds of their annual horse show—recognized as one of the leading shows in Texas—to the Red Cross and present defense stamps as first place prizes.

Bit and Spur is a girls' riding club at the University, and has been staging a horse show each year since 1931. Since that year the affair has grown from the "members only" status to a show including entries from Oklahoma, Arkansas, and half-a-dozen cities in Texas.

This year's show is set for April 25, at Camp Mabry just outside Austin. Temple Stephens, of Moberly, Mo., nationally known rider of three and five gaited saddle horses, will be one of the judges at the show.

The Texas horse show is the only one in the state to be a member of the American Horse Shows Association, and is the only one in America sponsored by girls. Program for this year lists eighteen riding classes.

Participating in the show Saturday will be Judy Lacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lacy, of Hondo. She is a member of Alpha Phi sorority, Alpha Lambda Delta—honor society—Sidney Lanier Literary Society, Orange Jackets, and the Y. W. C. A.

She will ride her own horse, "Stormy Weather", a dark bay hunter. Miss Lacy won the Green Hunter Class in the 1941 Bit and Spur show. This year she will enter the Green Hunter Hack class, the Road Hack class, and the two Bit and Spur classes.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

VERY OFTEN these days, I get to thinking about the soldier boys at camp. And the sailors, too.

What worries me is... what happens when they get a day off after working their heads off all week? They go to town... and what then?

What happens? The answer is... mostly nothing! Because most towns near army camps just don't have nearly enough entertainment facilities to take care of the soldiers on leave. So the boys just stand around, leaning against lampposts or sitting on doorsteps. And sometimes, the local townsfolk find themselves wondering what's changed the town... instead of pitching in to help the boys have a good time in decent surroundings.

In many towns, however, the situation is better. Many towns have nice, community places where a soldier can go sit down and "chew the fat" and enjoy some cake and milk, or maybe a good glass of beer. The boys like that. And they're not likely to get in trouble... because common sense tells you nothing can be wrong about a couple of glasses of beer.

There's another reason, too. The beer industry is cooperating with the army and with the law-enforcement officers to help keep the places where beer is sold, clean and decent. The brewers don't want their beer sold to soldiers in places where bad conditions exist... and they're right.

Seems to me that we Americans ought to get together and do everything we can to make things pleasant for the boys who are in training. They're doing their duty... maybe we have some duties, too, in this direction.

There are lots of ways of helping. We ought to support them all. All of us have our part to play in winning this war... and making life a little easier for the boys in camp is something we all can do something about.

QUIHI NOTES

Yet did not the chief butler remember Joseph, but forgot him. Gen. 40:23.

Those were interesting days in that Egyptian prison, exciting days, alarming days. The monotony was broken. Big events came on with sudden swiftness. A little war of nerves. It would make or break Joseph and his gift of divination, of interpreting dreams. With almost superhuman calmness and positiveness, he had predicted the future lot of Pharaoh's chief butler and chief baker. No ifs and buts, no roundabout confusions and ambiguous dark terms, allowing a variety of definitions and explanations. The meaning of their dreams was as bright as daylight to him, nothing doubting. So he spoke. And so it happened, in bulk and detail.

The dream of the butler, we remember, signified his restoration to his former butlership at the king's household. Within three days. The baker took heart. He had related his dream: He saw himself carrying three baskets of various "bake-meats", sweetmeats, we would say, on his head, the birds came and ate out of the top basket. What does that dream signify? With strained mien and fluttering heart, he awaited the interpretation. It meant a verdict of life or of death to him. Joseph, hurry! The man is trembling all over, nearing a swoon! And Joseph spoke, a voice from the grave, deeply touched and overcome, no doubt: Within three days, Pharaoh shall lift thy head off thee, hang thee on a tree, and the birds shall eat thy flesh.

Poor Joseph, forced to convey such a message! It must have touched him to the core! It must make him feel like a judge that sends a man for a long stretch in prison, or signs his death-warrant. Juries often are in the same plight with the verdict they render, or officers and strategists sending the fighting men into the very jaws of death in battle. Some may be hard-boiled and callous and untouched in situations like these, most of them, we dare say, carry out their duty with a heavy heart, wishing, at least, the "fates and destinies" had decreed otherwise.

The greatest jolt was on the baker, crestfallen and pallid, literally swept off his feet. Or did he rave and rant, protesting his innocence, charging contemptible injustice, partiality, underhand dealings, condemning the whole legal apparatus and those manipulating it? There are such outbreaks and convulsive attacks. Often on the part of those guilty without a doubt. A hypocritical show of vain apologies! Quite a few criminals break and sob and weep in utter abandonment and desperation. "Out, out, brief candle!" The sun grows dark, the world's a chaos to them.

Perhaps the baker is of an optimistic sort, always hoping that freedom shines in prison walls, that he has secret friends pulling the wires for him, that a legal error might be found, that a new appeal will help, or, in our case, that he has as much of a chance as the butler, that Joseph is gravely mistaken, that in three days or a little later, the clouds are swept away and the sun of his innocence shines with unabated glory! "Hark! hark! the lark at heaven's gate!" Some optimists always hear that little bird.

And then two haggard, haunting days and nights! Two little eternities for the two royal prisoners! (And how must Joseph have felt!) The birthday of Pharaoh dawns on the third day. Festivities galore. Royalties have a large purse—the tax-payers'. High potentates offer their felicitations, more or less sincere. A general amnesty. Prison gates open. Hollow-eyed figures stagger into freedom and the tormenting future of an ex-convict with the brand of infamy. And the butler again was "persona grata", received into the good graces of his monarch. The new splendor covers the prison episode. Alas! also the executioner is busy. The chief baker is hanged, right or wrong. No redress or compensation. The humiliated mourners could only weep and gnash their teeth. Man's law mends or ends things.

Did a little wave of that festive sea roll into Joseph's prison cell? Was he remembered by the happy butler? Misery makes fast acquaintance, affluence (wealth) often forgets the hand that strewed the flower in life's path. How fast man forgets faces and data of yesterday! Perhaps of little consequence. But when the misery of an innocent wretch thereby is prolonged and sharpened, then forgetfulness becomes criminal. The butler is guilty of that very charge. Joseph contents himself with his Lord. Not bad company! * * *

Shirley Jean were the names selected for the child of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lindeburg, which was brought to holy baptism. Mr. John Lindeburg and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Hartmann were the sponsors. May the blessings of God continue with the child. * * *

We have heard from several of our soldier boys. They are finding out their new surroundings and duties with greater ease and courage. One is now indulging the practice of sharp-shooting and making fine grades. Quite a contrast to his former profession behind the counter. Were it only meant for jack-rabbits and chicken-hawks! May the Lord be their guide and staff! * * *

After a more or less siege of sickness, Mr. Walter Balzen has resumed his work in Hondo. Also Miss Lucille Boehle went through the same route. * * *

The postponed Luther League program, due to the sickness of our pianist, came off last Sunday with a number of our usual visitors. Many miss a fine evening in tuning up for a new week. Hope to see the absentees in great numbers next time, thronging our little building! And here are numbers for May: Select readings, Mrs. Andrew Eckhart, Mrs. Arnold Lindeburg, Harold Bohlen; vocal selections, Mr. Walter Grell, Mrs. John G. Bohlen; instrumental number, Mrs. Clarence Bohlen. Trust you are all able to come across with the goods. The standing numbers, fine and regular, will not be lacking. —In the business session it was resolved that the Luther League purchase a War Bond. A right move at the right time. * * *

WHAT'S THIS

Thanks to some of our readers, we have more news than we did last week.

We went to the senior play last Friday night and found it was worth our time and money. Compliments were flying everywhere and every actor deserved the credit given him.

JACK SHARP who is working in the engine room of the U. S. S. Honolulu, which is located somewhere in the Pacific, sends word that he is well and happy. JOHN CAMERON is at an officers training school in Miami Beach, Florida, and will be out in July.

One of the most thoughtful gestures of the year came from HILMER MUELLER, BUD WOOLLS and LAUGHINGHOUSE. These three boys got together and bought a gift for "PUNKIN" HOLMIG who broke his arm last week. These three friends of his didn't want him to feel bad about the accident or think he had been forgotten. That's friendship for you.

"HERBY" BOON received his first pay check the other day for serving as guide and errand boy for Zachry & Co. "HERBY'S" worth all that and more, too.

If all sailors looked as fetching in their uniforms as did BARBARA ANN ZERR in her's, we're sure there would be more married sailors and fewer single ones.

Adding to our steadily increasing list of working girls are FRANCES RUTH FLY, MILDRED VAN FLEET and GEORGIA MAE MUENNINK, all of whom are working for Zachry & Co., and SIS MERRITT, who is now working in San Antonio.

PANALEE THOMSON, squired by two lieutenants from Kelly Field, visited Hondo last Sunday afternoon.

MRS. N. C. JOHNSON has finally received word from her brother, J. B. REDMOND, who is stationed in the Philippines. J. B. said he would be seeing us Christmas and we hope he is right.

Home on furlough is JACK FITZPATRICK who is in the air corps and stationed in the South.

BETTY JEAN MERRIMAN is a credit to our town. She is making quite a name for herself in the musical world and is staying the same BETTY JEAN that left here.

O say, have you all seen the new pool hall and game room that's located between the City Bakery and the "Oasis"? We are seeing a real Boom Town boom!

Even the local fortune teller is confused as to whether or not GERLINE STIEGLER is engaged.

We've been wondering whether the SCHUEHLE twins can dance as well as their brother HENRY and their cousin JOHNNIE. We want to dance with them if they can.

We just heard about THELMA JOHNSON'S husband being promoted to sergeant. They are stationed at El Paso.

ROSALYN MACLAUGHLIN SCHUEHLE will motor to Miami Florida, where she will join her husband "JAKIE" who is in officers training school there.

ROLAND NESTER is doing his part in entertaining the newcomers. Who wouldn't do his part if they all were as attractive as JERRY GILLILAND.

This just about proves to be our sum and total of all the news. If you know anything you would like for us to know, be sure to send it in. Remember, however, that we must know the name of the sender, so don't be afraid to sign your contribution.

RAMBLERS BEAT HONDO 2 TO 1

Still having trouble in hitting the pellet the Randolph Field Ramblers managed to squeeze out a win over the Hondo Owls, 2 to 1, Wednesday afternoon at Randolph Field.

The Ramblers, who have been powerful on the mound and rather meek at the plate, collected only three hits over Embrey, the Hondo chunker. Chick Hardin got a single behind a walk and stolen base by Naranjo to assist in the fourth inning scoring. In the sixth Naranjo walked again, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Hardin's hit. Hardin also got Randolph's other hit in the first inning.

Hondo tallied off George Jacobs, who gave up only five hits, in the ninth on an error, a stolen base and single by Hollmig and Clyde Schuehle.

Score by innings— R H H Hondo 000 000 001—1 5 Randolph Field 000 101 00—2 3 Batteries: Embrey and Finger; Jacobs and Naranjo.

KELLY EXPANSION AFFECTS HONDO

New construction at Kelly Field to cost in excess of $5,000,000 has been authorized by the war department, Congressman Paul J. Kilday of San Antonio announced Wednesday. This expansion will affect Hondo in many ways. The expansion at Kelly Field will include new facilities for an advanced twin-engine school, enlargement of the pilot replacement center and construction of an air corps reception center for cadets. Construction will be under jurisdiction of the army engineers at Fort Sam Houston, the same group in charge of Hondo's air navigation school.

The air school here is already well under way since its authorization about three weeks ago, and the Gulf Coast Air Corps Training Center announced that aerial navigation training would be moved from Kelly Field to the new school. Removal of the navigation school to Hondo would leave the entire field at Kelly available for pilot training, and conversion of the school to a twin-engine school has been planned for some time, it was stated.

The reception center for cadets will receive all new cadets reporting for training at Gulf Coast Training Center. Those qualified for pilot training will be sent to the pilot replacement center at Kelly Field. Those selected for bombardier and navigator training will be sent to the replacement training center at Ellington Field, Houston, for preliminary ground training before being sent to the navigation school at Hondo or the bombardier school at Midland.

Construction work on buildings, roads, runways, railroad spur and other projects are well underway at the Hondo field. Surveys for utilities, including gas pipe line and sewers are also being made.

DEPUTIES ON THE JOB

New traffic regulations were instituted this week on the business streets of Hondo. With the aid of H. B. Zachry Co., new parking lanes have been painted and through an order of the Medina County Commissioners Court, additional deputies are on hand to enforce regulations.

On Bandera Avenue, cars are parked as usual, headed in to the curb on the east side, but on the west side, lengthwise parking only is allowed. This same policy is to be adopted soon on Harper avenue. On North Center Street, parking headed in to the curb is permitted. However, the plaza on that street has been marked into two sections, roped off and tagged with no parking signs on the side next to the railroad right-of-way, and with red flags. Diagonal parking is permitted on the north section. With these new regulations in effect there is quite a noticeable change in traffic and the congestion problem is being lessened.

In addition to our regular peace officers, Sheriff Chas. J. Schuehle and his two deputies, Jack Fusselman Sr. and Johnnie Martin, the services of two San Antonio men, Frank Mathews and Charlie Cannon, have been secured. H. B. Zachry Co. has a force of police also on the job at all times at the field.

Bader, chairman, asks that these regulations be observed.

The class in D'Hanis is taught by H. B. McCabe, who reports 25 enrolled. There is room for more, so if you wish to join the class, please see Miss Josie Rothe. The class is conducted on Tuesday at the school.

This course is to make the student safety conscious, prevent accidents and to gain practical knowledge of first aid. You may enter this class next Tuesday, April 28, but not after this date. The class begins at 6:30 P. M. and continues for three hours, at the Hondo High School.

The following have enrolled in the Standard Class: Mrs. Otis Laughinghouse, Miss Lucille Newton, Mrs. Richard Kelly, Mrs. Barnitz Carle, Mrs. P. C. There are plenty of Text Books for all classes but these must be used at the present time as a rental library due to the fact there is a shortage of books and if these are sold the next classes might be deprived of the use of a text book. The First Aid chairman hopes later to have text books to sell but at present there are 210 in the Medina Chapter of the American Red Cross. You are asked to cooperate and take care of the books and return them at the end of the course.

WASTE PAPER NOTICE

Due to lack of storage space at present, waste paper companies are buying only newspapers and magazines. Since local storage space like- wise is limited, the local gathering agencies can accept only newspapers and magazines. They request that these be tied in separate bundles to facilitate handling.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

Interested parties are urged to file application without delay, for possible appointment as postal clerks at the Hondo office, and an opportunity for employment at any Classified Branch that may be established.

The position pays 65c an hour, with excellent chances at the present time for advancement. Age limits are 18 to 48. The Civil Service Secretary would like to call attention to the fact that the eligible register resulting from this examination will have a life of one year certainly, and possibly two years, and will be drawn on to fill postal positions as they are required during that time.

Call at the Post Office for further information and application blanks without delay, as the closing date for filing is May 7th, 1942.

Alice Was a Washlady

By Georgia Nicholas

There was a calculating twinkle in Alice's sea-blue eyes when she waved goodbye to Joel and closed the garage doors behind the new coupe. She had a big day and an important dinner planned. It wasn't a birthday and it wasn't an anniversary. (They'd been married only four-and-a-half months). There wasn't even anything to celebrate, nor had there been since Joel was promoted to the drapery department two months ago and she quit her job. But there was something to conquer. Something was happening to their comradeship. Joel hadn't called her Al for three weeks.

He was pretty much himself in the mornings and mostly he was on his good behavior by bed-time but at dinner he was inclined to be sullenly silent; or if he did speak it was with pained politeness. She'd tread asking him how things were going at the store but that just tightened his lips. She'd asked him a few days back and his answer was, "Oh so-so." This situation really hurt because they had always talked about the store before they were married. But after that "Oh so-so" Alice was determined that even if she were dying to know what was going on at the store she'd die before she'd ask Joel. But she didn't intend letting this rift grow into a chasm. Nor did she intend speaking of it. That would only make the silence more oppressive. As the lady of the household it was up to her to be the tactful mistress of the situation. All the books on health and etiquette said there should be pleasant conversation at the table and Alice intended to have it at hers if she had to train a parrot to provide it. She was not going to give up until the situation was licked.

Her dinner-to-night was to be climaxed with one of her custom-made apple pies, built to Joel's specifications; extra juicy and with a handful of raisins plus an overload of cinnamon. She guessed that would break down his dinner table reserve. But this morning there was the bi-weekly washing to be done. The day was cut out for washing. The sunshine was an invitation, the wind a challenge. Alice made a decision and voiced it to Mickey, the pup. "I'm going to wash that bed spread you defiled with your muddy paws." The spread was a vast tufted affair in white with a bright mosaic design in the center. Near one edge was a blurred pattern of Mickey's foot prints. Joel had said, "Send it to the laundry." But Alice had kept the spotted side next the wall awaiting a day like this. Why send it out when she had a lovely washing machine and a fine large drying yard? She wasn't going to send anything to the laundry until the car was paid for.

Besides she needed a hard job like that to help her think. She wasn't through with her planning yet. While running the white things through the wringer she set her level head to the task of analyzing why it was that trouble threatened only at dinner time. It couldn't be her cooking. Even Joel admitted she'd done all right by him after the first couple of weeks. But lately he'd become stingy with his compliments and when she told him she'd mixed the pie crust herself he'd merely grunted "Uh-huh" as if cooking should be simple and easy for a girl fresh out of an office. He'd been acting like a scolding should only be eaten and never talked about.

That was why she'd sworn off mentioning anything concerning her day. But when she tried talking about strictly impersonal subjects like the war and the election—when she tried playing Dorothy Thompson instead of Eleanor Roosevelt—he wasn't any more responsive than he was about the pie crust. In fact only last night when she thought she was making an original observation on the democratic campaign, Joel had shrugged a shoulder and said, "Aw, I heard that at the store day before yesterday." With an extra surge of self control she refrained from saying, "Well, you might have told me and saved me all the work of thinking it up myself."

They had not yet had their first quarrel and she was not going to be the one to start it, let Joel egg her on as he would. Being a bride wasn't easy. She had to be cook and diplomat and maintainer of the peace and psychologist and budgeteer; she must not only prepare such a perfectly gorgeous dinner that Joel would talk voluntarily but she must find a new subject to discuss in case he was too stubborn to carry on his share of the conversation. She must make him realize that she was a person as well as a cook.

"I know what I'll do," she said to Mickey as she started the colored things into the rinse water. "I'll pick up one of those new humor magazines when I go out to buy the clothes and I'll study it while the clothes are drying. Then I'll dazzle Joel with my wit. I'll scintillate; I'll sparkle; I'll shine until he'll have to stop after every bite or two and laugh with me. I'll bring him right out of himself. You just watch me. I'll make him come to life. You can't ignore a spotlight when it's bright in front of your eyes, and that's how bright I'm going to shine. But the sunlight could not presage, for it was in the wind that the whisper of the lovely washing machine was heard.

chine would choke on the tufts of that bed spread and refuse to function. To wring by hand and rinse and wring again the equivalent of three sheets in one is a stupendous task for a girl whose previous muscular activity has been limited to golf. And to hoist even one end of such an unwieldy bulk over a clothesline is positively herculean. But Alice did it. She heaved and she shoved and she said words. But she did it. And she had the dripping untractable thing nearly even on the line, nearly corner to corner, and was giving it the final tug when the pulley holding the clotheslines parted its moorings and—

By dinner time the pulley was re-anchored, the spread re-rinsed, rehung and dried but instead of chops and rich, fluffy whipped potatoes for dinner there were sardines with the potatoes in jacket and instead of juicy apple pie there were canned peaches. Alice was a very weary girl—far too weary to scintillate, but still determined not to mention her day.

Joel was not in his usual monosyllabic mood. "Do you know what happened at the store today?" he offered. "No, what?" Alice managed as brightly as she could. But she didn't feel like listening to what happened to the store today—not just yet. She'd like to have some dinner and sit down a few minutes first. Why did men have to be so contrary? This story he was unfolding about the screwy customer who got in his hair, it was the sort of thing she'd been missing, it was what she thought she wanted, and now if he would only shut up until she could enjoy it.

"Yes," she filled in when he paused for breath. "Why, Al! What's the matter? Sardines for supper? And you look like you've been drawn through a knot-hole with a nail in it? What the—"

"It took you an awful long time to notice it. I practically worked myself to death is all." Alice was on a fence. On one side was an ocean of tears, on the other gales of laughter. Her balance was precarious.

"And here I am talking you to death. Shame on me. I'll be quiet and let you eat your dinner in peace. Here have a sardine." He held the sardine by the tail and let her take it seal-wise. That pushed her off the fence. She laughed and laughed. But it was crazy, hysterical laughter and Joel took her in his arms and carried her to the front room where he could hold her in his lap until she could relax. "It's O. K., Al," he said, stroking her hair as she calmed down and just rested against his shoulder. "I know how you feel. Sometimes you're so tired you just don't want to have a lot of talk going on. I know how you feel. After you've eaten it'll be different. Then maybe you'll feel like talking. Come on, let's go out and have a big feed and afterward you tell me everything you did today, O. K., Al?" "O. K.!" And Alice smiled and sighed at the same time. The sigh was the release of a big burden from her shoulders. And the smile; well, Joel had called her Al twice to-night.

SPRING FIELDS

The winter freeze will bring to surface stone Which long has lain below the plow's sharp share— In spring we drag the stone-boat from its lair, And, bending hour by hour with weary groan, We tug and lift and carry till each bone Is like to break with aching. As we stare Across our fields in fall, so smooth and fair, We wonder how the seasons will atone. How strange that cold can do such yearly harm— Can reach long fingers down and pry away At stones, and lift and lift until they grow Along the furrows of a well-plowed farm . . .

They are like the evils of a soul which lay Deep buried until strong tension makes them show. —MURRAY SKINNER.

BUSY SPRING

The gray of winter's naked form Begins to disappear Beneath a coverlid of green, And lovely spring is here.

The rains came gently to the earth, And plows have crossed the field To mark new furrows in the soil For planting summer's yield.

Wild-flower buds are lifting their Bright cups to beautify The path where spring is dancing in As winter scampers by. —MABEL G. AUSTIN.

tools that have been proved in actual use for many years. Constant improvements have been made in this equipment, to make it more and more efficient.

Today, tractors are made that, with their implements, can be operated with perfect safety by young boys or girls, who can do just as good a job of plowing, planting, cultivating, or harvesting as grown men under most circumstances.

Fortunately, too, agricultural implements and tractors are given a high priority rating by the government, recognizing the need for increased farm production. There may be at times shortages of metals, and delays in delivery, but generally speaking, it promises to be much easier to secure up-to-date farm equipment than to obtain most other peace time merchandise.

This column advises every farmer to plan now for much greater production during the coming season, especially production of crops other than the staples of which we already have surpluses. The big demand is for vegetables, dairy products and meat.

To plan for this increased production, the first step is to check over every implement on the farm, including the tractor. See that necessary repairs are made now, when parts are available. Valuable growing time may be lost by putting off this job until the last minute.

Then study carefully the needs of the farm, with increased production in mind. If a new tractor, or new implements are needed, arrange to get that equipment well before your season begins. Today, this equipment can be bought for immediate delivery. In the spring, you may have to wait, and again lose valuable growing time, for the weather never fits itself into the capacities of your equipment.

Farmers are foresighted and forehand people. They know how important it is to plan in advance. Now, more than ever before, that advance planning will pay dividends, as well as contribute to national welfare.

MORE TOOLS

The vast quantities of ships and tanks and planes and guns we are called upon to manufacture for national defense could never be made without the marvelous machine tools industry has devised.

Tools multiply the amount of work a pair of hands—or a hundred thousand pairs—can do. They make possible our streamlined production methods, which are based on turning out thousands of parts, all exactly alike, all interchangeable.

And just as industry has speeded up, so is agriculture being called upon to speed up, to produce more. Men who are working hard eat more. Men who are in the army and navy eat more, and they deserve more. And men who are being called into industry and into military service are being taken in part from food-producing farming.

And now we have the job of providing a great part of the food supplies for the nations that are fighting aggression.

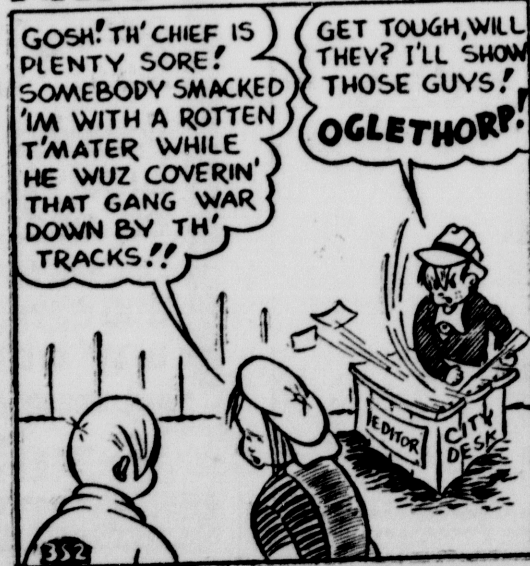

Of this means that just at the time when agriculture is asked for its greatest production of all time, we have an increasing shortage of farm labor.

The answer to the challenge is tools, and still more tools.

Fortunately, we do not have to design new tools. Manufacturers are ready to produce more of the

BLIND GIRL IN A ROSE GARDEN

Here where a heaven one can see, A blind girl seeks felicity. She smiles, for roses sweet are near, Encompassing with warming cheer. The joy of living is the spark That lights her ventures in the dark. A perfume rare is all she knows About the glory of the rose. No roses in the sun can show This soul what God from dust can grow; How He with His beloved roses To us His love and peace discloses; How we who blest with precious sight Look on a rose with fond delight.

God, help a blind girl through Your eyes To see with light that never dies. Help her to see the roses bloom Within her heart that is her home. —M. M. GENOVESE.

WHEN WINTER SAYS GOODBYE

The laughing brook and hills all ring With happiness when it is spring! All nature sings in pure delight With joyous voice from morn till night When all her children high and low Join hands in spring and say— "Hello!"

When children of the woods and vale All gather round over hill and dale To welcome back their comrades all Who left with south wind in the fall, Then poor old winter with a sigh Just flaps his wings and says— "Goodbye!" —MARY LARKIN COOK.

Atascosa County Monitor.

H. W. Butts, who has recently moved to his farm home near Jourdanton from the V. T. Kallus house, stopped the Editor on the street this week for a friendly visit and to become a subscriber of the county newspaper. Mr. Butts, who came to Atascosa County from Medina County, and the Fletcher Davis family, publishers of the Hondo Anvil Herald, are very close friends. The Monitor editor was a member of the mechanical staff at Hondo for two years following graduation from high school.

Corpus Christi Press.

Mrs. George Gilliam left Corpus Christi this week for New Orleans, Louisiana, to join her husband, Lt. Comdr. Gilliam, USNR. Prior to her departure, Mrs. Gilliam was entertained extensively by her friends.

J. L. WERST JR. GOES TO TAYLOR

J. L. Werst Jr., who has been with the Champion since March 31, a year ago, as linotype operator-printer foreman of the mechanical department of the shop and later as publisher, has resigned in order to accept a position on the Taylor Times weekly. Mr. Werst began his new duties Monday of this week. The family will not move at the present time and may stay here until school is out.

Mr. and Mrs. Werst have been interested in community activities and participated in the programs of the various civic and social organizations since being here. They are the kind of citizens a community regrets to lose.

Mr. Werst's efficiency was the combined result of experience and the fact that he believed every job was big enough to merit good workmanship and the maximum in neatness. He was as fine a person to work with as one rarely finds. The family has made many friends during their year's stay and these folk are glad that they are not moving so far away but that they may be seen and visited occasionally.

Mr. Werst belonged to the Volunteer Fire Dept., the Lions Club and was a member of the men's class in first aid.

The best of wishes go with them to their new home.

The Uvalde Leader-News.

Mrs. Ora Hollingsworth, secretary of the Sabinal Chamber of Commerce for the past several years, resigned last week and the board of directors named Jake Millikin as her successor. Mrs. Hollingsworth, it is understood, will take a place at Hondo in connection with the new navigation school there.

RECALLS GUNPOWDER MADE IN SAN ANTONIO

A recent story which appeared in the Leader-News and which made reference to the use of guano in the manufacture of gunpowder by Confederate forces, recalled to the mind of Mrs. Augusta Austin of this city that her father, John Leakey, for whom the town of Leakey was named, and who was the first white settler in the Frio canyon, hauled guano from a bat cave near ConCan to San Antonio where it was used in the

MANY VISIT CASTROVILLE DURING PILGRIMAGE.

Many people from Medina County and especially from San Antonio attended the pilgrimage in Castroville last week-end, and found many interesting things in this old town. Several old rock houses, some of which have been restored and modernized, were visited and antique lovers found many relics on display. The pilgrimage closed Sunday afternoon.

FRANK BURELL DEAD

Frank Burrell, aged 72 years, died at his residence here Thursday, April 16, 1942. Services were held Saturday morning, April 18, at 9:30 a. m. from the Tondre funeral home. Interment was made in St. Louis cemetery, with Rev. Dean J. Lenzen officiating.

Surviving the deceased are his widow Mrs. Regina Burrell; daughters, Mrs. E. A. Tondre and Mrs. Ernest Braun of San Antonio, Mrs. Fred Hindres, of Dayton, Ohio, Mrs. Richard Ahr of New Braunfels and Mrs. Milton Bendele of Dunlay; sons, Daniel of Castroville, Edwin of Dunlay, Hilary of Dayton, Ohio, and Ellis of Harlingen, Texas, and twelve grandchildren. Also mourning his passing are a sister, Mrs. Theresa Renken, and two brothers, Louis and Charles Burrell.

John Leakey went to the Frio canyon in 1856. Several years later when the Civil War broke out, Joe Ney, a pioneer settler of D'Hanis in Medina County, "worked" the bat cave near ConCan and Mr. Leakey hauled the guano by wagon to San Antonio.

Mrs. Austin recalls having heard her father and Mr. Ney discuss their work on numerous occasions.

Since sensing many years ago Hondo's need for a rational sanitary system, we have been ready and willing to attempt to pay the price.

Anything worth having is worth its true value—and must be bought at a price.

And the preponderance of value, it seems to us, lies on the side of these needed safeguards.

And if permitted to vote next Tuesday it will be for the effort to secure these things!

WHO PAYS THE BILL?

An incident took place in a small western town recently, that contains food for thought.

A farmer went into the local pool hall and found a number of shipyard workers playing pool on a week-day holiday. The question arose as to why they were not working, and they told him it was because they could not get double-time pay. The farmer "blew up" and told them what he thought of such demands in this emergency.

They seemed surprised, and said: "What do you care? It doesn't cost you anything. The government pays the bill."

This brings up the question of who pays the factories and workers producing war-time equipment. No one but the hard-pressed taxpayers, including men and women in every walk of life—even the shipyard workers themselves.

Government has no money to pay anybody anything until it first collects it from the people. Government is merely an agent of the people. Every bit of waste by government, industry or labor, comes out of the pockets of the people.

It is a pity that any person thinks government pays for waste or exorbitant charges of any kind—the people pay through the nose in higher and higher taxes.—Industrial News Review.

The hostesses, Mrs. Geo. Wiemers and Mrs. T. G. Wiemers, served delicious chicken sandwiches and tea.

O Thou Who dost the vision send And giveth each his task, And with the task sufficient strength Show us Thy will, we ask;

Give us a conscience bold and good, Give us a purpose true, That it may be our highest joy, Our Father's work to do.

FOURTH REGISTRATION TO BE HELD APRIL 27

Announcing the distribution of instructions to Texas local boards concerning the April 27 registration, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, said today that plans are under way to register approximately one and one-half times the number of men who were registered in the third registration.

As soon as the President's proclamation calling for the fourth registration has been received at State Headquarters, Governor Coke Stevenson will, according to the Director, issue a proclamation calling upon all men in this State who had attained their forty-fifth birthday on or before February 16, 1942, and have not attained their sixty-fifth birthday on April 27, 1942, to register as of their home address between 7:00 A. M. and 9:00 A. M. on Monday, April 27.

General Page pointed out that although the men affected by this registration are not liable for military service under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, they will be registered in much the same manner as men who enrolled in previous registrations. General Page pointed out that since registrants who were forty-five years old or over on February 16, 1942, are not liable for military service, there will be no National Lottery and no order numbers will be assigned, although the registration cards will be serially numbered by local boards.

Any person in doubt as to whether or not he must register should consult the proper registration officials and register if they deem it advisable.

J. R. Chancey of the Medina County Board announces that the regular election judges will be requested to hold the registration at the polling places in the County.

D'HANIS, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1942

HAVE YOU JOINED?

What is it worth to you to give a wounded soldier the necessary sedative to ease the pain of the wound gotten in your defense? Would you give the price of a theatre ticket to see that a destitute, expectant mother had a doctor's care? Would you make a small sacrifice to feed a hungry child? Milk, soup, eggs and bread would come to the price of a theatre ticket or two.

Well, if you wouldn't don't read any further, because this isn't for you.

But if you would, give the Red Cross a dollar today. Surely in these days a dollar given away means a small sacrifice to all of us.

But our brave boys in the front lines are making sacrifices, too. Ask yourself "Do I deserve the sacrifices made for me by the boys in uniform?" No greater love hath any man than to lay down his life for a friend.

Have YOU fed a hungry child or taken care of a wounded soldier today?

JOIN TODAY!
MRS. QUAID MARTIN,
Red Cross Volunteer Worker.
